About Thanjavur:

Thanjavur is a 2000 years old city. The name Thanjavur has been compounded from the three Tamil words ‘Tha’ - Thiru - Nett - meaning sacred petty hedge. It is the sixth largest municipal corporation in the state. Thanjavur is located 406 km southwest of the state capital Chennai. Thanjavur’s town, named Perambur is called the District of the South India as it is the hub of many schools, colleges and many important government offices. The district has diverse geographical and physical features like hill mountains, low plains, rivers and canals, see, spread across the sacred and mountain forest, sandy soil and fertile alluvia, a variety of fishes, fossils and protected wildlife. Top attractions in and around Thanjavur are Meenakshi Temple, Tirumalai Nayakkar Palace and the Madras Museum. The city is green and pleasant year-round, with the climate being mainly monsoon rainfall from July to September. This city is named in the most depressed cities, struggling with issues of mental health. The prime’s goal of today, needs to be向着 mental health. This conference will tend to dealing and discussing with ideas of enhancing happiness as that it could be imbalanced in the society and thus guiding the nation towards a positive development.
